

PROFESSIONAL AND PRODUCTS LIABILITY

We have extensive experience representing and defending physicians, hospitals, nurses, therapists, and other healthcare providers in cases involving claims of professional negligence and malpractice. We also represent other professionals in liability and malpractice actions, and have successfully defended real estate brokers and agents, architects, lawyers, and insurance producers. We recognize that our professional clients in these cases want and need to be well informed about and involved with the strategy and defense of the case at all stages in the litigation, and we ensure that you are. We understand the personal impact these cases have on a professional person, and we commit to working together to find and reach the best possible result.

The credentialing and complaints processes in state government can be tortuous for any professional in Maine. We have helped many of our clients navigate these potentially tricky waters by providing expert, timely, and clear advice and representation before professional boards of licensure and regulation in both credentialing and disciplinary matters.

As knowledgeable and experienced trial attorneys we are always prepared to defend our product manufacturing, distribution and sales clients all the way to a jury, if necessary, and we are equally comfortable negotiating towards settlement.

We have represented clients involved with a wide range of products, including

- Automobiles
- Motorized Trailers
- Airplane Parts
- Lawnmowers
- Snowthrowers
- Industrial Tools and Parts
- Chemical Products
- Tobacco Products
- Hydraulic Equipment and Lifts
- Consumer Products
- Pharmaceuticals
